THUMBNAIL DESCRIPTION:

Jacob Irons wears a fancier hat and uniform than the rest of the crew. One of his vest pockets (the right one) is bulging and unbuttoned, with a small notebook and some papers sticking up. A piece of thin leather cord attached to a belt loop droops lazily, with the other end disappearing into his left trouser pocket. In the open, bulging pocket is a small notebook and a folded piece of paper listing the names of all passengers who boarded at Fort Worth. The names of the Rangers are written separately under the word "Express". The pocket also holds a ticket pad, train schedule, and a pencil. In the left (buttoned) vest pocket is his cash and a small pocket knife.

The other end of the strap is attached to a key ring with four keys (to the express and baggage cars' end and freight doors). On the keys are the letters "EX", "EX FRT", "BG", and "BG FRT" respectively, crudely engraved with what was probably a pocket knife.
